PRINCIPAL'S DESK...

The Role of the Supportive Consultant –

Many of you know Mrs. Diane Grolemond as a Teacher Assistant at St. Charles School. She continues in this position, working with middle school math students during morning hours.

However, during the afternoon Mrs. Grolemond is also our new Supportive Consultant, fulfilling a number of tasks for staff, students and parents. Some of these responsibilities include: being a teacher resource person that assists in student assessment, screening of new students and development of plans to accommodate specific student needs. Also, she works with the principal to meet specific classroom needs such as conflict resolution and study skills, coordination of M-Team special needs meetings (between public schools, parents and St. Charles) and coordination of Standardized Testing in specific grades.

We are fortunate to have Mrs. Grolemond in this critical position helping to keep our school moving smoothly for all.

Doug Dunlop
